Building Purchase to Add Residence Space for 1,000

The University will add over 1,000 on-campus residence hall spaces by the acquisition of the Park Central Apartments, 1900 F Street, N. W. The University has contracted to purchase the nine-story brick building and will convert it to a women's residence hall for Fall 1964 occupancy.

The University presently has space for about 1,000 students in three men's and three women's residence halls on campus, and also leases off-campus housing for 280 women students.

When the new residence hall is opened in September, 1964, it will house 1,000 women students, and will include a dining hall which will accommodate 400 students at a sitting. "With this step we will slightly more than double our on-campus residence facilities," said University President Thomas H. Carroll, "thus meeting a need clearly evidenced by the national and international character of our student body." The University has students enrolled from every state, as well as the District of Columbia, United States possessions, and 75 foreign countries.

Madison and Crawford Halls, which presently house about 350 women students, will be converted into men's residence halls for the 1964-65 school year.

Anticipated enrollment for the fall semester in the University's School of Pharmacy is 33 students.

"People at the upper levels of the opportunity scale make the decisions that affect the chances of those in the lower. But one of the most distinctive features about the exercise of leadership in American society is the abiding ethical principle that each individual—regardless of origin, race, or creed—should have the opportunity to rise to the level of his ability. This principle is now part of your stewardship as responsible, educated citizens already at the upper level of opportunity. I hope that you will strive to enlarge it throughout your lives, to the end that we may stand before the court of humanity as a nation of truly universal justice."

AUGUST 1963: VOLUME SIX, NUMBER FIVE

The University completed its 142nd fiscal year on August 31, 1962, and again achieved new highs for total operating income, total operating expense, income from student fees, total gifts, total endowment funds, total loan funds, net investment in plant, and total assets.

Total operating income increased 12.8% from $17,896,480 in 1961 to $20,188,274 in 1962, and was approximately 2½ times the income of $8,119,547 in 1952. Total operating expense increased from $18,089,298 to $20,163,253.

Student fees, principally as a result of a larger student body and higher tuition charges, increased from $5,733,321 in 1961 to $6,764,573 and represent 75.3% of total operating income, excluding income from the Hospital and Sponsored Research.

Grants and contracts from government, corporations, and foundations supported expenditures by 406 sponsored research projects in the total amount of $5,304,633.

The Hospital recorded a 6.55% increase in income to $5,893,932.

Salaries, wages and fringe benefits paid to members of our staff totaled $14,131,445 and represent 70.08% of current operating expense.

Gifts for the fiscal year ended August 31, 1962, totaled $1,458,114. Of this amount $60,116 was for unrestricted purposes; $849,883 was restricted for scholarships, prizes, or support of the various schools and the Hospitals; $13,266 was designated for loan funds; $89,703 was restricted for additions to our endowment funds; and $445,146 was for plant fund additions.

Endowment funds totaled $7,633,063 on August 31, 1961, and were increased during the past year by $95,094, making a total on August 31, 1962, of $7,728,157. Market value of investments representing these funds totaled $9,739,638.

Largely as a result of an allocation of $17,487 from the National Defense Student Loan Program, student loan funds increased $36,779 to $361,058. Scholarships, fellowships, and grants-in-aid awarded to students in the University are increasing annually both in numbers and amounts. During the two-year period 1959-1960 and 1961-1962 the number increased by approximately 25% and the amount by approximately 53%. Altogether 862 scholarships, fellowships, and grants-in-aid were awarded in the total amount of $673,933 during the past year.

Net Investment in Plant, representing original cost of land, buildings, and equipment less related indebtedness, increased during the year by $662,555, making the total on August 31, 1962, $23,660,413.

Total assets increased from $40,712,016 on August 31, 1961, to $43,164,560 on August 31, 1962.

The Class of '55 of the Law School held an informal reunion in June at the home of Ron Madsen, partner in the Washington firm of Douglas, Obeare and Campbell. Similar get-togethers are planned for future years, and the class hopes other classes will hold similar functions. An important ingredient of successful class reunions is that alumni keep the Law School advised of address changes.

Vice President for Plans and Resources John A. Brown addressed the Philadelphia Alumni Club May 22.

"Our university, as well as other urban universities with extensive research and graduate programs, plans for educational leadership in a changed world, a new nation, a different life," said Vice President Brown. "Having split the atom and touched the moon, modern man also grapples with ancient problems—hunger, poverty, fear, bigotry, ignorance. It is an age in which man has become restless with the realization that there is so much to do, and through education he expects to find the ways and means to do it."

Drummond

The Buff and Blue is on the move. Although 12 lettermen were lost from last year's first two teams, Coach Jim Camp and staff have a couple of surprises to bolster the eleven returning lettermen.

Big Gordon Bennett, who transferred to George Washington after playing a season at Maryland, has decided he wants to play his last year. At 6' 3", 230 lbs., he adds quite a bit more size. George Stone, a 1961 letterman when he played first team offensive center as a sophomore, will play again this fall. He will also contribute size and experience. Further, after completing his summer school course, "Double-D" Drummond will be back in his familiar backfield spot.

Although a lot of injuries were sustained during spring practice, the morale of the squad was given a considerable boost by a 22-12 victory over 36 Buff gridders of former years in the annual alumni game.

Players and coaching staff are equally optimistic regarding the coming season. From the freshman team of last fall—undefeated and unscored on in Southern Conference competition—16 or 17 will join the varsity this fall. With the new rules changes, Coach Camp will still use the alternate team system with each team going both ways, but will play six to eight men in addition. Even though the team will be young and comparatively inexperienced, it will be larger.

India-China Relations Emphasized at Sino-Soviet Seminar

The nature of the India-China border dispute was one of the most complex questions considered by the eight specialists who participated in the General Alumni Association's Commencement Day Seminar on "The Nature of Current Changes in the Communist Bloc," attended by some 300.

A controversial point discussed was whether the Chinese were guilty of "aggression." Two of the participants, Harold C. Hinton of the Institute of Defense Analysis and Paul A. M. Linebarger, Professor of Asiatic Politics at Johns Hopkins University's Institute of Advanced Studies, agreed that if the dispute ever were decided by an international court, the Chinese would receive the majority of land in question. Both also asserted that the Chinese were not guilty of aggression in this instance, and that their actions were precipitated by India.

Wolfgang H. Kraus, Professor of Political Science at George Washington, disagreed, and maintained that some of the Chinese claims are "clearly extravagant," and that the Chinese Communists have been the "challengers of a peaceful status quo," culminating in "military aggression."

Other participants were Moderator Kurt London, Director of the University's Institute of Sino-Soviet Studies, which conducted the Seminar; Ronald B. Thompson, Professor of History at the University; Raymond L. Garthoff of the Department of State; Alexander Dallin, Director of the Russian Institute and Professor of Government at Columbia University; and two members of American University's School of International Service, Ralph L. Powell and Abdul A. Said.

University to Assess Monroe Papers

The University has undertaken a project of locating and appraising the papers of President James Monroe, one of the most prolific writers in American history, for possible future publication.

Dr. Richard C. Haskett, Associate Professor of American History, has been named to direct the project, and is currently working on determining the feasibility and nature of the publication process. Dr. Haskett, who estimates that publication of the papers will run to many volumes, will examine Monroe papers at the Library of Congress and the National Archives this summer, and has also written to libraries throughout the nation requesting the use of known Monroe papers.

Dr. Haskett said that many of Monroe's writings are impersonal, and that the study "may reveal more about the country than the individual." Although the location of most of Monroe's writings is known, Dr. Haskett would be "very receptive to any one who has ideas or advice on the subject."
